

ROTARY CLUB OF COROWA

VOLUME 72 ISSUE 16

WEEKLY BULLETIN

PRINTED 11/10/2010

PRESIDENT: DAVID POTTS

Last Meeting

Guest speaker, Tanya Sofra, who is Rural Dementia Project worker with Hume Shire, gave an interesting talk on the various aspects of dementia and the ways in which it affects the sufferers, the carers and the community in general. Dementia cannot be cured but the risk of getting it may be reduced by following a healthy diet, keeping the mind and body active and having regular health checks and remembering to do these things.

In the absence of Howard, Mathias filled in as chairman and did a great job. It may be an idea to get our exchange students to take part in the weekly roster on a regular basis. Any thoughts?

There was no International Toast and no Rotary info. as those involved were absent.

As I am neither sexist nor racist, the following joke is not about blondes or the Irish so anyway this Collingwood supporter who was returning home from London to party-on in the local supermarket car park for the next few days following their big win, had purchased a 'cattle class' ticket for the trip. However, feeling jubilant after so many years of obscurity, he decided to go first class, and soon after departure he moved to that section of the aircraft and seated himself. A stewardess soon arrived and said, "I am sorry Sir, but your ticket does not allow you to be here, please resume your seat in economy." The Collingwood supporter replied, "I'm a Collingwood supporter and we're the greatest and I'm travelling first class." "If you don't leave, I'll have to get the head steward." replied the stewardess. The Collingwood supporter made it clear that he was not moving and she could get whoever she wanted. So she did.

The head steward explained the situation and asked the Collingwood guy to move and received the same reply as given to the stewardess. "If you don't move I'll have to get the captain," said the head steward. "Please yourself" was the reply.

The captain duly arrived and the steward explained situation to him. "I bet you're going home to the party," said the captain, who had previous experience with Collingwood supporters. "Yes I am, and I'm going first class." The captain leant over and whispered something in the ear of the Collingwood supporter who immediately stood up, thanked the captain for being so helpful and headed back to economy.

"How did you manage that, what did you say?" asked the other two. "Easy" said the captain, "I just told him that if he sat here he'd miss the party because first class wasn't stopping in Australia."

What is the difference between yogurt and an Australian?

Yogurt has some culture

A Ukrainian migrant in Australia wanted to become a cabbie so he had to go for an eye test for his drivers licence. He was shown a card with the text CWNSCZYZQOCTAZS. He looked at it with wide open eyes, looking very surprised. The examiner said impatiently; well? And the Ukrainian answered; I know that bloke...

A man and his wife were sitting in the living room and he said to her, "Just so you know, I never want to live in a vegetative state, dependent on some machine and fluids from a bottle. If that ever happens, just pull the plug."

His wife got up, unplugged the TV and threw out all of his beer.

An old Australian battler lies dying in his bed. He calls to Shirley, his faithful wife of 60 years, and says, "Shirl, when we started out, tried to buy a business in the depression, went bust: you were with me"

"Oh, yes, Bruce", she says.

Then the war started and I joined up and was sent to the front line, where I lost me legs. You stayed with me."

"Oh yes, Bruce" she says.

"Then, came home, couldn't get a job due to my disability, and bought a farm."

"Oh, yes, Bruce", she says.

"The farm flooded, then just when we got over that, there was a bushfire, and then the drought which wiped us right out: you still stayed with me."

"Oh yes, Bruce,"

"Now here I am, in excruciating pain, about to die, useless and you're still with me."

"Yes Bruce."

"Shirl."

"Yes, Bruce?"

"You're bloody bad luck"
